

Everyone is invited Wednesday nights at 7 pm to be a part of honoring our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, as we walk through the great book of Hebrews. Making practical, for today's living' the great truths of His accomplishments. We will have much interactive discussion to strengthen our faith; and how to put that faith into action, in becoming even more of a missionary church in our community. Lets refresh ourselves on His greatness in us to become more empowered to live out His purpose for each of us. Facilitated by:

Pat Patterson

The search committee will conduct video and face-to-face interviews with two candidates this month. Please continue to pray for the search committee for God's wisdom during the interviews.

Thank You

Please bring coloring books/crayons for younger kids and word seek/crosswords and pens for older kids. The Dollar Tree has these items.

There is a bucket in each hallway for you to place the items in. We need them by March 15th.

Please see Cory Jones if you have questions.

Dear Church Family-

On behalf of our beloved Peter Krams, we all would like to thank you for the outpouring of love ,prayers, cards and support you have given us in so many ways.... His mother, Lili and his sister, Ditte, in Australia are deeply touched at the mail and words of encouragement sent to them so far away. And I for my part, could not feel more loved by all of you as we will all be left with a tender spot on our hearts that he has left behind, may God rest his soul. I love you deeply - Margaret.

*You may view the memorial service on “youtube” at Peter Krams Memorial Service.

”International Missions....My Story”

“Thank you for choosing me.”

The words were written across the picture in a childish scrawl. The “T” was a bit sideways, the bottom of the “h” was gigantic compared to the top, the lettering stopped in the middle of a word before it hit his face and some of the letters were hard to see against the background.

It was absolutely perfect.

It has been almost two years since we met Alberto. His lively smile and his dark, sparkling eyes quickly won our hearts. He freely gives his love and affection; his hugs are long and strong and genuine. I see him watching us when we are teaching Bible class, acting out Bible stories, playing with all the kids, singing silly songs. He sticks with us. He holds our hand. He sits by us. We thrill to see him thriving, learning, playing, and growing. We pray he feels loved, accepted, chosen.

Children who come to Ciudad de Angeles have no one who claims them. No family. They are labeled: Unwanted. It is the only reason the government will allow them to come there. No wonder our hearts break at their gratitude. We see ourselves in them. If we forgive only as much as we think we’ve been forgiven, then we love only as much as we understand we are loved.

The picture is on our refrigerator. Every day, I see it—Alberto’s smiling face. It sets my day straight: The message is not lost on me. Without God, I am nothing. Unwanted. Unloved. God came here to earth to take us by the hand—to look in our eyes—and CHOOSE us.

John said we love because He first loved us, but someday we hope Alberto and the other special children at Ciudad will understand—we choose because God chose us—and we are honored to have a small part in His plan for them.

Perhaps God is choosing you to reach out to those the world calls unwanted. A mighty work is taking place in Cozumel. We would love your help in reaching out to the children of Mexico for the Lord. Unloved? Unwanted? We prefer “chosen.” By Tammy Hughes
